Joseph Gabriel Ph.D.

Electronics: The Life Story of a Technology (Greenwood Technographies)

Greenwood Press has released a fourteen-volume series of what it calls technographies, each subtitled The Life Story of a Technology - short, accessible histories of book, telephone, radio, electronics, computers, and sound recording. This addition to the Greenwood Technographies series will give readers of all ages a concise overview of and electronic publishing. The volume includes a glossary of terms, a timeline of key events, and a historical perspective on the development of technology in the modern world, such as electronics and the computer.